

Aiden Brown

Studying on the course was the first time I'd ever picked up a pair of scissors. I couldn't be more grateful for the road which it has led me down and caused me to absolutely fall in love with the profession that is barbering.

The course is an excellent starting point for anyone fancying learning a new skill or even change of career such as in my case.

The basic fundamentals will be shown throughout the course leaving you confident in basic men's hairdressing. It really hammers home the importance of sanitisation of a barber shop!

Education is key in this industry. At the moment I'm spend a small fortune on several online platforms teaching me more in-depth cutting and styling techniques by some of the industry's greats, but I've realised you'll never go broke investing in yourself!

As a barber it's always important to be constantly learning and evolving. Keep an open mind when it comes to approaching hair and different hair types the course will teach you all of these things!

I'd say definitely enrol on the course and you could potentially change your life too.

Love and peace.

Click here to read about Aiden's other talents which he mixes with hairdressing.