

USING MATHS IN...

TRAVEL AND TOURISM

WHAT YOU'LL NEED TO KNOW...

- To be able to plan holiday or event itineraries for customers using costings, working to budgets and running to timeframes.
- So you can calculate payments accurately using exchange rates, and commission percentages, when making sales to customers i.e. cabin crew selling duty free products.
- To understand statistics and graphs to interpret information on trends and factors affecting the industry like which is the most popular holiday destination.

Without these skills you could be limiting your opportunity to progress in your career.

Travel agency managers and proprietors can be earning salaries of £28,877 a year.

Travel agents who advise travellers upon travel arrangements can earn around £26,357 a year.

*these figures are a national guide only

So don't miss out on your GCSE and functional skills maths classes identified on your timetable.

USING ENGLISH IN...

TRAVEL AND TOURISM

WHAT YOU'LL NEED TO KNOW...

- You'll need to communicate professionally with customers with no spelling or grammar errors i.e. when replying to emails or complaint letters.
- So you can create well-written and visually-appealing promotional material to advertise travel products i.e. designing holiday brochures.
- You need to demonstrate effective interpersonal skills when talking to customers face-to-face, over the phone and in writing by using appropriate language.

Without these skills you could be limiting your opportunity to progress in your career.

Travel agency managers and proprietors can be earning salaries of £28,877 a year.

Travel agents who advise travellers upon travel arrangements can earn around £26,357 a year.

*these figures are a national guide only

So don't miss out on your GCSE and functional skills English classes identified on your timetable.