Item	Notes
Laptop/tablet	A lot of our work is done with the use of IT, Microsoft Teams in particular, so it is advisable for you to bring in your own laptop or tablet to support with learning.
Pens	It's best to try and have different coloured pens to aid you with your notetaking. Highlighters are ideal for all your classes so you can signpost different subjects and topic areas in your studies.
Pencils	The standard writing pencils plus colouring pencils will come in very handy.
Folders	Try to have different folders for all your subjects to help you with organisation.
Notepads	One per subject is useful if you are not going to use folders. Remember though that you will get handouts, so folders are a good idea to keep your work together.
Dictionary/thesaurus	A dictionary is essential to nail down the difficult spellings in some terminology you may need to use, particularly in the science subjects. A thesaurus can be helpful by providing a list of synonyms to avoid repetition in your writing.
Cite Them Right	You will need to learn how to reference in the majority of your subjects so the Cite it Right book is a very handy guide. You will have access to copies in our Learning Resource Centre (LRC), but you can purchase your own from all good retailers.
